N. D. OFFICIALS HELD AT FAULT ON WHEAT PRICE

Failure to Act to Save Car Supply May Cost State Heavily

FARMERS ARE THE LOSERS

Elevators Unable to Pay on Present Market Because of Lack of Cars

Failure to grasp the railroad situation is costing North Dakota thousands, perhaps millions of dollars.

North Dakota is paying, and will continue to pay, in the opinion of well informed men, because the situation now faced by the state was not recognized in time.

Not until the grain crop was ready for harvest, and only after Minnesota officials led the way, did North Dakota officials take action to get enough cars to move the state's crop.

"Elevators are buying wheat at the December delivery price now instead of the cash price," said an official of the state government today.

Some farmers charge that the farmers will lose millions of dollars.

"The reason for this," he continued, "is because elevators have no assurance of an adequate car supply. The situation may be relieved in time, but the prospects are that these elevators may have to hold a large part of the grain for three months or more. That means they will sell the wheat at about the time December prices become cash prices. They must borrow money to pay the farmers for their wheat. If they paid the cash price which now rules on the Minneapolis market they will lose money if they pay the December price. They may make or lose money, but more probably will 'break even' on a normal profit."

If the state officials had recognized the situation months ago; had gone to the Interstate Commerce Commission and demanded that the railroads serving North Dakota be returned their own cars, the situation would have been saved. But only a few weeks ago was concerted action taken. Grain cars now are moving west in large quantities. Just how many are moving is undetermined, but there is an improvement in the situation.

Some railroad officials expect the movement to continue for two or three months before there is a really adequate supply of cars on hand.

Minnesota Acted First.

The seriousness of the situation, it was pointed out today, was first realized by Governor Burnquist, of Minnesota, who started action in which North Dakota and South Dakota followed. He already had an organization working before these other states joined in. When the matter was finally pressed on the Interstate Commerce Commission prompt action was taken.

Empty Advice.

Many farmers want immediately to sell their grain to liquidate debts although J. A. McGovern, deputy state grain inspector, advises them to hold it. A large part of the crop will have to be held, because elevators soon will be filled up and will not be cleaned out as rapidly as they should.

McGovern's advice, therefore, is considered by many a waste of words.

Had the officials of the state foreseen the situation the results might have been entirely different. It is held by many shippers.

Local Price Higher.

Not all wheat is being bought on the December price. The Russell-Miller company, for example, which manufactures flour buys wheat on the "straight arrival" price in Minneapolis, which is higher than the December price. It can do this because it sells flour at a profit.

Many people joined the boosters at Halliday, Dodge and Werner, and arrangements were made for the Mandan train to wait until 12 o'clock last night so that the Mandan people could join in the entertainment.

A hand concert, followed by a program of entertainment and a dance in the evening, furnished a good time for the visitors. The boosters' special arrived in Mandan at five o'clock this morning.

GAS RATE IS INCREASED BY NEW SURCHARGE

Bismarck Gas Company Authorized to Add 25 Per Cent to Bills After Sept. 1

ORDER OF COMMISSION

Loss in Operating Plant Under Present Rates Is Shown, Company Claimed

A surcharge of 25 per cent on gas bills in Bismarck effective September 1, is authorized by the state railroad commission, in an order issued today.

The action was taken by the commission on the petition of the gas company, on which a hearing was held several weeks ago.

The present rates of the company, on which the 25 per cent surcharge is authorized, are as follows: First 10,000 cubic feet, $2.45 per thousand; 10,000 to 20,000 cubic feet, $2.20 per thousand; 20,000 to 30,000, $2.00 per thousand; 30,000 to 40,000, $1.80 per thousand; 40,000 to 50,000, $1.60 per thousand; over 50,000, $1.30 per thousand.

A discount of 20 cents per thousand cubic feet is allowed on bills paid by the month in effect for a period of four months from September 1 and further states that "at the end of which four months period the commission may further order continue of said rates and surcharge for a further period or may change or otherwise modify the rates and charges of the Bismarck Gas Company."

The commission requires the Bismarck Gas Company to keep a record of its revenues and expenses and file a monthly report. The company is required to install on or before October 1, 1920, a suitable calorimeter outfit for testing the heating value of the gas, and the gas shall be tested in a laboratory to be designated and equipped to meet the approval of the commission. The company is further required to make tests of its gas manufactured for the amount of hydrogen sulphide contained in it.

Meter Record Required.

The company is required after October 1, upon complaint filed with it questioning the accuracy of any meter to make a test of the meter and keep a record. The company is required to purchase and install suitable recording pressure gauges. The purpose of these installations, it is stated in the order, is to aid in making a study of costs and efficiency.

The commission on May 26, 1919, increased the rates of the company above the franchise rates to a minimum rate of $2.45 per thousand cubic feet. The commission has since the expiration of the time of this order the company petitioned for further increases. Representing the company before the commission was Frank E. Ployhar, president of the Valley City company, and C. B. Hawley superintendent.

Says Company Lost Money.

The commission states that a check of the company's finances showed a loss for the year ending May 31, 1920, of $712.07. Seven per cent is considered by the commission as a reasonable return on the investment.

The history of the case as set out in the records of the commission says that there is a great increase in the cost of manufacturing gas. In its formal request for an increase in rates the company asked a rate of $3 per thousand for the first 10,000 cubic feet and corresponding increases for other quantities the record sets out.

O'CONNOR TALKS ON GRAIN GRADE AND INSPECTION

Says League Law Has Cost Farmers a Great Deal of Money and Is Unfair

LEAGUE JUDGE HIT IT

Quotes Jurist as Saying That Act Is Providing a Huge System of Graft

Minot, Aug. 26.—The necessity of upholding the structure of government based upon the national and state constitution was emphasized by J. F. O'Connor, in an address here in which he also went into the subject of grain grade and inspection act of the state.

The speaker avoided abuse during his speech. In going into detail into the grain grading act he declared that the league leaders were causing the farmers to lose millions of dollars, and that they were not only giving the farmers less for their dockage but had spent over a hundred thousand dollars to do it.

In Peculiar Situation.

"The farmers at Embury, North Dakota, found themselves in a peculiar situation," he said. "Congress passed a grain grading law which provided for inspectors of grain, for grades and for weighing the same and also provided that any person who violated this law which applied to all interstate shipments could be fined a thousand dollars and imprisoned for a year or both."

"The state of North Dakota provided a grain grading law which provided for grades, inspectors and weighing the same and provided that if this law was violated, that for a first offense, there was imposed a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars or confinement in both and for each succeeding offense the county jail for not less than ten days nor more than thirty days or both and for each succeeding offense a fine of not less than one hundred dollars or more than five hundred or be confined in the county jail not less than thirty days nor more than ninety or both. These farmers had their own elevator and they could not comply with both laws. They did not care to be imprisoned by the United States government and they had no desire to be imprisoned by the state of North Dakota. There was only one thing these farmers could do and that was to ask the court which law they should follow."

Ladd's Tests.

"The sworn testimony of the manager of that farmers elevator before Judge Amidon discloses that he was grading wheat that tested fifty-four pounds to the bushel as No. 3 wheat. A representative from Mr. Ladd's department asked him to grade this wheat as No. 1 which meant a loss to the farmers of about ten cents a bushel. The manager of the farmers elevator insisted that as he was given No. 3 for this wheat in Minneapolis, he should be allowed to give the farmers No. 3 but this the inspector denied him the right to do."

"The attitude of the league leaders say that the farmers must lose this ten cents a bushel on their grain which loss would amount to about five million dollars and that they have no right to go into the court and ask redress. When this law was before the supreme court of North Dakota, the Nonpartisan judge who received the highest vote, said: 'The act is a long, ill-constructed, ungrammatical, multifarious hodge-podge document.'"

"It was Senate Bill 314, and again this learned Nonpartisan judge says about this grain grading act: 'It should be entitled thus an act to create a huge grafting system and to deny farmers the right to sell their grain without paying to some inspector an unknown and unlimited graft on each and every load. 37 N. D. 535.'"

"The present law provides that seventy thousand dollars bi-annually may be expended to enforce this law. The farmers have paid over one hundred thousand dollars for the privilege of getting ten cents a bushel less for their wheat. We take our position with the farmers and against those who claim they have no right to get the full market value for this wheat and their dockage."

"The elevators even before the passage of the grain acts have paid for dockage; they are paying for dockage today and we believe that the farmers are entitled to pay for their wheat and for dockage that has a value."

RUSSIANS SLIP OUT OF POLISH FORCES' TRAP

Remnants of the Fourth Army Reported Surrounded Again, However

START FLANK MOVEMENT

River Passage Also Forced by Polish Troops, Says Official Statement

Warsaw, Aug. 26.—Remnants of the Fourth Bolshevik army, which were cut off by the Polish advance in the region of Kolno have succeeded in cutting their way through to the eastward after a battle lasting ten hours, according to an official statement issued here. The Soviet troops carried out a regrouping maneuver and succeeded in making their way out of the trap which had closed upon them, but at last accounts were surrounded by a more numerous force of the Fourth Polish army.

The Fifth Polish army continues its work of rounding up detachments of Bolsheviks in the region west of the railroad running from Moolin to Mlaw.

Carry Flanking Movement.

On the central front, the Poles have carried out a flanking movement to the north and have occupied Knyazyn, 15 miles northwest of Bialystok and Stawisk Stawiski, 12 miles northeast of Lomza. Occupation of these towns with the capture of Kolno completes the work of forming a ring around the Fifteenth Bolshevik army. Other Soviet forces have re-assembled at various places, and are making repeated attacks in their attempt to break the Polish cordon. Nine attacks were made in the region of Kolno yesterday, but all are said to have been repulsed with enormous losses.

In the maneuver which resulted in the occupation of Lomza, the Poles took more than 2,000 prisoners and 9 cannon.

The military authorities expressed the belief today that although crushed in the north the Bolsheviks plan to renew their offensive with Lemberg as the objective.

Regarding the northern Soviet offensive General Halper declared that the Russian offensive there had been so completely crushed that he considers it impossible for the Soviet forces to resume an organized movement against the Poles for weeks, and perhaps for months.

General Halper said there were indications that armies of Russian workmen were being grouped at various points for possible use against the Poles and that these armies might be thrown against the Poles at any time. General Halper said there also were indications that the Soviet munition factories under German foremen were working night and day and that many German munition experts were being employed.

FORCE RIVER PASSAGE.

London, Aug. 26.—Polish troops yesterday after hard fighting, captured the fortress of Ostrolenka, 22 miles south of Lomza, and forced passage of the Narew river, the Central News' Warsaw correspondent today says it is officially stated in the Polish capital.

RUSH RESERVES UP.

Warsaw, Aug. 26.—Russian Soviet reserves are reported being brought up on the southern front in great numbers, according to information in the hands of the Polish General Staff. Reserves from distances behind the Bolshevik front also are being brought up.

GERMANS USE PEAT FOR FUEL.

Berlin, Aug. 26.—Peat will probably be used more extensively as a domestic and industrial fuel in Germany as a consequence of the Spa agreement. The municipality of Berlin has started a turf digging plant on its property at Blankenfelde, where 20 tons of peat are already being produced daily. Mixed with coal the peat is used to help feeding the boiler fires at municipal power stations.

In Saxony too, the threatened coal famine in the coming winter is causing concern. Finance Minister Reinhold has drawn up an extensive re-felling program in the state forests, and potatoes are to be grown on the clearings.

NEW ROCKFORD DAILY PAPER IS FORCED TO QUIT

New Rockford, N. D., Aug. 26.—The publication of the Daily Transcript has been discontinued, and the paper will be published twice weekly.

The publishers announced that the paper is being discontinued "owing to the high cost and scarcity of print paper, and the extraordinary high prices of everything."

"We take it to publish a newspaper," expressing regret at the necessity of discontinuing the daily because the publishers saw "as a business proposition we find that this is the only solution until the cost of materials reaches a level where it will be possible to meet them with the necessarily limited patronage of a city of this size."

BODY OF YOUNG WOMAN FOUND SLAIN IN WOODS IS IDENTIFIED

Wife of Rail Employee Is Identified; Diamond Rings Are Missing From Body When Discovered in Woods; Husband Refuses to View Her Face

Grantwood, N. J., Aug. 26.—The body of a young woman, found slain in the Grantwood woods yesterday, today was identified as that of Mrs. Blanche Schulz, of New York. The identification was made by the woman's husband, Frank Schulz.

Schulz, who is an employee of the Interborough Rapid Transit company, immediately identified the clothing worn by the dead woman. He would not look at the body but told the police his wife had a mole on her back which they found as described. Mrs. Schulz, according to her husband, had been employed in a Manhattan department store but had been missing from home since last Saturday night when she left for a visit with a sister near Keyport. He said she had with her $50 and five diamond rings and a wedding ring which were missing.

An autopsy showed that the woman's throat had been cut from ear to ear, and that this caused her death. She also had been struck a heavy blow on the left temple, the physician said.

NEW DESCRIPTION OF VAMP IS GIVEN

DES MOINES—Charles Kohn, of Storm Lake, Iowa, feared his wife was playing into the hands of a former suitor. After her absence from home he came here to look for her. Kohn described his wife as follows: "Short, neat and tidy, aged 35, with dark down her back and weighing about 245 pounds. Have you seen her?"

GRAIN RATE CUT BY LAKE ROUTES TO AID TRAFFIC

Interstate Commerce Commission Orders a Readjustment of Rates

Washington, Aug. 26.—Steps to stimulate the movement of grain across the Great Lakes from the west in order to relieve the car situation were taken today by the Interstate Commerce Commission in ordering readjustment of grain freight rates from ports on Lake Erie to the Atlantic seaboard.

The modification permits increases of only 30 per cent in domestic rates and 25 per cent in export rates, instead of the flat 40 per cent increase recently authorized by the commission. They are to apply on grain shipments from Buffalo, Erie and Fairport to the Atlantic seaboard.

As a result of the commission's order lake and rail rates from the west will be about three cents per 100 pounds less than the all-rail rates. Railroad experts expect this to result in increased grain shipments from ports on Lake Superior and Michigan thus releasing large numbers of cars at those ports for return to the grain fields and eliminating the long haul of empty grain cars from the seaboard.

JOSEPH DIXON LEADS FIELD IN MONTANA'S VOTE

Has Lead Over H. L. Wilson for Republican Nomination—N. P. Leads for Democratic Place

Helena, Aug. 26.—Returns received early today reduced somewhat the earlier lead of former U. S. Senator Joseph M. Dixon, for the Republican nomination for Governor of Montana, in Tuesday's primary. Complete reports from 991 precincts in the state gave him 15,130 to 14,258 for Harry L. Wilson, his nearest opponent. Attorney General S. C. Ford, was third with 13,500 votes, and the other three candidates were far out-distance.

Former United States Attorney B. K. Wheeler, Nonpartisan league candidate for Governor, had 24,948 on the returns of the latest returns to 18,581 for Lieutenant-Governor W. W. McDowell, and 3,764 for Thomas E. Carey.

Wheeler was supported by the Butte radicals, and their vote swelled his early total.

ADVISE FARMERS TO BUY SHEEP

Agricultural College, N. D., Aug. 26.—That the present is an especially favorable time for North Dakota farmers to begin raising sheep is the opinion of J. W. Haw of the Agricultural college, assistant county agent and secretary manager of the North Dakota Federation of Wool Growers.

"The best time for the farmer to begin raising sheep," says Mr. Haw, "is when the price is low, as it is at the present time. In addition to the reasonable figure at which breeding ewes can be secured the fact that there is plenty of hay and other roughage and short grain and much waste in the stubble due to rust makes this a fine year for the farmer to get started with a small flock."

U. S. HEIRESS TO WED ENGLISHMAN

London, Aug. 26.—It is announced that Miss Eleanor May Guggenheim, daughter of Solomon R. Guggenheim, a U. S. multi-millionaire, will wed Viscount Stuart, son of Earl and Countess Castletown.

Head of Party Says That Suffragists Will Guard Victory They Have Won

Washington, Aug. 26.—The proclamation announcing officially that the suffrage amendment to the constitution had been ratified was signed today by Secretary Colby, of the state department.

The document was signed at 3 o'clock this morning at Mr. Colby's home when the certificate from Governor Roberts, that the Tennessee legislature had ratified the amendment was received. Secretary Colby announced his action on his arrival at his office later.

Disappointed Women.

The announcement disappointed a group of suffrage workers from headquarters from the National Woman's Party, who had gathered at the state department, hoping to be present when Mr. Colby attached his signature to the proclamation. Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the party, was among the number. "We are confident that the signature of Secretary Colby completes the suffrage struggle in this country," she said. In spite of every obstacle that our opponents could put in our way, we have won the right to an equal voice in the affairs of this government."

GAS EXPLODES; FIRE DESTROYS TAILORS' SHOP

Explosion at Pressing Machine Starts Fire Which Spreads Rapidly

GASOLINE ADDS TO FIRE

Machine Explodes.

The fire was caused by the explosion of a pressing machine. Gas is used in this to generate steam for the steaming of clothing and also used to heat the machine for pressing the clothes. An explosion occurred in this machine starting the fire which spread rapidly. No one was injured.

The operator of the machine, as it exploded, shouted a warning of "Fire!" and the occupants of the shop ran into the street.

Gasoline was used in the shop for dry cleaning and cleaning hats. The fumes and clothes saturated with gasoline hastened the spread of the flames to all parts of the shop.

Fire Put Out.

The fire department responded very promptly, but the fire spread so quickly that by the time the first stream of water was turned on it great clouds of smoke and tongues of flames were shooting from the front and rear of the little shop.

Two streams of water quickly subdued the fire and saved nearby buildings from further danger. The shop was located in the block owned by E. Hughes. The contents of the shop consisting chiefly of cloths on display, were worth in the neighborhood of $500, the proprietors stated. They said that there was some insurance on them, but the insurance would not cover their loss.

Smoke Does Damage.

Smoke from the fire damaged some of the stock of the A. W. Lucas Co., according to Mr. Lucas. "I cannot tell just yet how much damage was done," Mr. Lucas said.

Immediately after the fire many people rushed to the shop to see if their clothes were burned and to recover them if they were not. According to the proprietors their insurance does not cover clothes which were left for cleaning or pressing. A number of these were not burned, however.

A. W. Lucas' stock was damaged by smoke. Mr. Lucas stated that he was awaiting the adjusters and as soon as the loss was determined plans for a sale of damaged articles would be announced.

DULUTH RIOTS BRING TWENTY MEN TO TRIAL

Duluth, Aug. 26.—Date of trial of men charged with murder, rioting and inciting to riot in connection with the recent lynching of three negroes in Duluth is announced by Warren E. Green, county attorney. There are 20 defendants. Trials will be commenced simultaneously in three departments of district court next Monday.

Of the men awaiting trial on charges of riot and instigating riot 4 also are charged with murder in the first degree.

RIOTING AGAIN BREAKS FORTH

Belfast, Ireland, Aug. 26.—Fierce rioting occurred here this afternoon and the military fired on a crowd. The casualties if any are not known. This afternoon's rioting occurred in Clonville street, Belfast.

The military fired volleys in the crowd and a number of persons were seen to fall. The fire brigade was caught between hostile stone throwing crowds and had to retire.

S. D. CANDIDATES DEBATE PLANNED

Pierre, S. D., Aug. 26.—W. W. Hovatt, Democratic candidate for governor today filed a challenge to W. H. McMaster, Republican candidate for a series of 12 joint debates on the issues of the campaign as set up by the different parties in their platforms adopted by the political meetings last December.

PRICE TUMBLE IN COAL SEEN BY OFFICIALS

Already Have Dropped at Tide-water Price After Investigation Opens, Claim

Washington, Aug. 26.—Forecast of a tumble in coal prices was made by department of justice officials today, coincident with the announcement of "renewed activity" in the campaign against coal profiteers. With production on the increase, prediction was made that the coal market would follow sugar prices in a break in the near future.

Prices have dropped at Baltimore, where the federal agents started yesterday to gather evidence against the alleged combination of dealers who were declared to have boosted prices through repeated re-sales.

Although interior points have reported exorbitant coal prices in many instances, it was stated that the "flagrant violations" of the Lever act were confined largely to the Atlantic coast. The department will press its investigation at all points, however, as a part of the program outlined on Monday when the attorney general instructed all United States attorneys to delve into the coal price situation more deeply on the basis of information that pyramiding of prices had been accomplished through interstate trade.

The department's hands are tied at Philadelphia by a court order restraining the United States attorney from prosecuting profiteers under the Lever act, which was held to be unconstitutional by the court there. But the court will not stay the gathering of evidence, it was said.

Federal reserve board officials also reported indications of an impending drop in the coal market. Their information was that transportation conditions

ROOT SUPPORTS SMALL NATIONS IN HIGH COURT ORGANIZATION

American Representative Joins Brazilian Delegate in Getting Recommendations Approved

The Hague Aug. 25—In the course of the jurists' conference which have been held here to draw up plans for the organization of an International High Court of Justice, Raoul Fernandez, the Brazilian delegate, found Ell in Root a strong supporter of his fight for the interests of small nations.

At two different occasions Mr. Root succeeded in inducing the conference to adopt articles which Senator Fernandez proposed but which only met with a cold reception until Root came to Fernandez' assistance.

The first case was the right of the country which had no judge in the court to name a judge to sit while that country's case was before the court.

The second case in which Fernandez and Root closely collaborated was when the latter's proposal to extend the power of supplementary judges was about to be rejected.

According to the original plan the vacancies caused through the absence of judges could only be filled when at least three judges were absent. Mr. Root, however, supported the Fernandez amendment and the substitute takes the function as soon as one judge is absent. In these two cases the small powers are closely interested.

The small powers are to have a majority in the high court, there be-

FIRST CAISSON OF NEW BRIDGE NEAR LAUNCHING

Friday Picked as Day for Be- ginning Excavation for Pier— Contractors Pushing Ahead

The first caisson of the new Bismarck-Mandan bridge will be launched Friday of this week.

The caisson will be sunk on the Bismarck side of the river in low water and it is probable that a depth of 80 feet will be reached before the concrete for the pier is poured. All of the piers will be extremely deep because of the treacherous bottom of the river.

A big organization is now on the ground working at the building of the bridge with H. T. O'Hagan in charge for the Foundation company. Congested condition of the railroads has held up materials and caused some delay but good progress is being made in the work. A large force of men is employed but more men could be used.

The river now is at a very low stage and the contractors are making the most of the opportunity to push ahead at this time. Work on the piers and approaches will be carried on at the same time.

Hollow rubber balls have been patented by a Massachusetts man to be slipped over the legs of hens to discourage them from sitting.

BOY INJURED AS HE RUNS INTO A CAR LAST NIGHT

George Burtt, Newsboy, Hurt
as He Runs Into Dr.
Griebenow's Auto

NOW SERIOUSLY HURT

Boy Is Taken to Hospital, But Recovers Consciousness and Is Doing Well Today

George Burtt, eight-year-old grand son of Mrs. Frank Scott, 322 Fifteenth street, ran into a Dodge runabout driven by Dr. F. F. Griebenow last evening about 6 o'clock.

The boy was running across Fifth street peddling papers and had dodged one car. Then he ran into the doctor's car and was thrown back on the pavement.

Dr. Griebenow took the boy home and later took him to the hospital. He stated this morning that the boy had recovered consciousness and would pull through all right. No bones were broken.

The Accident.

"The boy was delivering papers," Dr. Griebenow said last night, "when he ran into the car. I had just started my car and backed out from the curb, on the west side of Fifth street. The car was not going more than eight miles an hour."

"The boy was running across the street, about 20 feet north of the crossing, with a folded paper in his hand. He dodged another car and I did not see him, until he ran into my car."

He must have struck the front part of the car, as his finger print is on the hood of the car and the paper he held in his hand flew into my car. It is still there, I guess."

Struck Pavement.

"The boy was thrown back and fell on the pavement. The car did not run over him. I stopped at once and took the child from Dr. J. W. Doyle, who had run out and picked him up."

Dr. Griebenow found out where the boy lived and took him home at once, giving him all possible medical attention. Later he took the boy to St. Alexius hospital. He said last night that the boy was under shock and dazed, but that he would recover all right.

Say Car Was Going Slow.

George Gillett, a clerk in a hotel on the corner, an out to see what happened, arriving on the scene as the child was picked up.

"The marks where the doctor's car skidded as he clamped on the brakes, show that he was not going fast," he says. He stopped within five or six feet from where the child was thrown down."

CARPENTERS ON STRIKE SO SHE REBUILDS HER OWN HOME

Butte, Mont., Aug. 25—A fire partially destroyed the home of Mrs. Sophia Coyle. Carpenters were on strike. "I'll repair my own home," said she. And that's just what she's done. Inside partitions had to be installed, shingling had to be done, painting was necessary. Mrs. Coyle donned a pair of overalls and set to work, with hammer, saw and paint brush. Now she has moved her two little children "back home," and she is adding the finishing touches that will complete a mighty fine job. Picture shows Mrs. Coyle and her home.

"Then he buys condensed milk with the money. He says cow's milk isn't fit to drink. Last night he said he would go down and sell his papers and then stop on the way back and get a can of milk. He helps me keep the place going."

The next thing I saw of him was when Dr. Griebenow brought him home in his car last night. I wanted to see the boy this morning, but the nurse and I were afraid he would cry after me and I had better stay away."

PIT-SILOS WILL GIVE FARMERS A LOW-COST SILO

L. J. Garske Constructs 12 by 20 Pit-silo at Very Small
Cost

"The pit-silo offers many advantages both in cost and serviceability as compared with other more expensive types," says G. W. Gustafson, county agent.

L. J. Garske, a farmer north of the city has constructed a pit-silo on his farm. The silo is 12 feet across, by 20 feet deep. Ten feet are above the ground and ten feet below.

The pit part of the silo allows the great portion of the ensilage to be stored below the ground and shortens the walls projecting above the ground. Thus the strength of these can be less than a tall silo would require.

Mr. Garske's silo will be ready for filling this week. It will hold approximately 60 tons of ensilage. It is built of concrete entirely.

The materials and labor required to construct this silo cost about $125, according to the county agent. There is a prevailing opinion around the county," he says, "that a silo which will keep your feed costs from $1,000 up. All those farmers which have such an idea should take a look at this pit silo. It shows how a practical, efficient, and cheap silo can be built."

Three of four pit-silos can be constructed for the same cost as one tall or stave silo and the capacity of the pit-silos will be much greater.

GET CLEAN BILL FOR BATTERY IF CAR GOES WRONG

"When the motor in your car is not 'hitting on all six,' or four or eight, or twelve, as the case may be, don't jump to conclusions. It is expensive," according to Mr. Williams, manager of the Lahr Motor Sales company's Vesta Service department.

"The trouble may be due to any one of four general causes—electrical system, carburetor, vacuum tank or battery."

"The latter is the easiest to check up. Any reliable battery service station will do this for you in a few minutes. Most battery stations, like ourselves, perform this service without charge. It is simply one of the good-will features that characterize our efforts to serve the motoring public constructively."

After your battery is given a clean bill of health you can then proceed to the ignition of other experts with the assurance that he is not going to work on your car for an hour or two and then hand you a bill for service with the advice that you have been using your starter or burning your lights too much and have let your battery run down."

Many motorists have had this experience. It is our policy to help you get every bit of service possible from your battery, no matter what make it is. continued Mr. Williams. If we can save you from trouble or annoyance we are glad to do it.

The Three Great VESTA Triumphs

AMONG the various makes of storage batteries there is only one radically different and superior to the rest. This one exceptional battery is the Vesta. Three great battery improvements make the Vesta different. These triumphs give it double life:

1. Vesta Indestructible Isolator—an ingenious device, locks the plates apart and prevents short circuits.
2. Vesta Impregnated Wooden Mats—prevent "treeing" and its disastrous consequences.
3. Titanium—a rare mineral, enters into the lead plates, hardening them and giving them longer life. It precipitates minerals and impurities in solution, thus increasing the efficiency of the battery.

These remarkable features are covered by U.S. Basic Patents belonging to the Vesta. They cannot be used in any other battery. Vesta costs no more than ordinary batteries. Ask any Vesta Service Station man to explain Vesta superiority.

RESTRICTION OF LIQUOR TRAFFIC IN S. A. PLANNED

Despite Government's Action on Bill, Treaty With United States Is Made

PRESIDENT IS DRY

Buenos Aires, Aug. 26.—President Irigoyen's administration has just announced through Finance Minister Salaberry that it will oppose the prohibition bill recently introduced into the Chamber of Deputies. Nevertheless, an official move in favor of the restriction of the liquor traffic is seen in the terms of the reciprocal commercial travelers' treaty recently agreed upon between United States Ambassador Stimson and the President.

This treaty, which will probably be drawn up and signed in Washington during Ambassador Stimson's visit there on leave, will provide for a single Federal license for American salesmen in Argentina, instead of licenses for each province, but will exclude them from selling alcoholic beverages under it. The prohibitive clause was requested by President Irigoyen, but its significance lies with Argentina in that it establishes a precedent in the direction of prohibition. It is pointed out that if this treaty with the United States is ratified, other nations who may desire also to negotiate a treaty with Argentina providing for a single Federal salesmen's license would, by virtue of this precedent have to accept a similar clause against the sale of intoxicating liquors. Otherwise their salesmen must continue to pay a separate license in each of the 14 provinces. These vary and run as high as a thousand pesos.

While President Irigoyen is known to be strongly in sympathy with restricting the liquor traffic, it is said that he feels that Argentina is not yet ready for total prohibition. One entire province, Mendoza, thrives upon the wine industry, and the use of light native wines, especially in the rural districts, is almost general. The introduction of the prohibition measure in Congress was followed by a strong protest from the Mendoza wine growers. They were told by Minister Salaberry that, "although he had not consulted President Irigoyen on the subject, he could assure them that the executive power of the nation will not approve this reform, and if it is necessary, will oppose against it all the legal resources upon which it can lay hand." Meantime the wine growers have organized "junker" for Congressmen to the wine growing district to show the importance of the industry to Argentina.

REPUBLICANS CONFIDENT OF CONGRESS GAIN

Prospects Bright for Republican Victory in Seven Democratic States

LEAD IN SENATE IS TWO

Washington, Aug. 26.—While the election of the next president of the United States is the chief object of the forthcoming election, leaders of both big parties are awake to the importance of capturing the next congress and particularly the senate which must have a voice in executing America's foreign policy, the principal issue of the campaign.

The Republican party now has a majority of two in the senate and its leaders are alert to see to it that this majority is not overturned and, if possible to increase it. Despite the issues involved in the presidential campaign and no matter which party may win a majority of presidential electors, the senatorial alignment is so close that a few changes might reverse the party control. Republican leaders are keenly aware of this condition, and they are not conceding by any means, as some democratic party chieftains seek to impress the public, that there is any likelihood of the republican majority being overturned.

Republican Chances Good. While it is true that some of the republican senators seeking re-election are having hard fights on these hands, due to a variety of causes and conditions, republican leaders point out that the game is true of the democrats. In fact the chances for the Republicans making gains in states now represented in the senate by Democrats are good.

There are 33 senators to be elected this fall in 22 states, two to be chosen in Alabama, one for a short term to succeed the late Senator J. H. Bankhead. Of course the Republicans make no claims in Alabama, but of the remaining 31 senate seats involved in the election, 15 now are held by Republicans and 16 by Democrats. In seven of these Democratic states, the Republicans have good prospects for victory.

Neep South Dakota Victory.

Members of the Republican senatorial campaign committee believe that the outlook is excellent for the election of Republican successors to Democratic senators from South Dakota, Idaho, Colorado, Kentucky, Nevada, California and Maryland. In South Dakota they believe V. S. G. Cherry, Democrat, will be defeated by a Republican, Senator J. F. Nugent, Democrat, Idaho, is admitted by his own party managers to be in danger of defeat. In Colorado where Senator Charles H. Thomas has declined to accept the Democratic renomination because he is out of sympathy with his party on the league of nations issue, Republicans are predicting senatorial victory. Republican leaders also insist they will defeat re-election Senator J. C. Beckham in Kentucky, where Republican strength has been growing by leaps and bounds, at Senator Charles B. Henderson, Nevada. Senator James D. Phelan, California and Senator John Walter Smith of Maryland. In the case of Maryland Democrats are said to be turning against Smith because of his support of prohibition. Here are at least seven states which furnish opportunity for a Republican offensive and the party leaders are taking advantage of the situation.

Democrats Look to East.

In Republican senate territory, there are also some danger zones but the G. O. P. managers are by no means conceding victory to the Democrats in any one of them. Democratic leaders of course are making many claims in this fighting ground and are carrying on their offensive against the Republicans in Wisconsin, New York, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Missouri, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois. The democrats propose to force their fight hardest against the return of Republican senators in New York, Connecticut, New Hampshire and Indiana. If Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr. is renominated in the New York primary to succeed himself, the Democratic committee in charge of congressional campaigns will redouble its energies to gain the seat now held by Mr. Wadsworth, who is again to have the most formidable contest of his political career this year.

SYMPATHY GAME NETS SUMS FOR MAN WHO FLED

Said to Have Worked Several People, Including Bankers, for Loans

MAKES GOOD HIS ESCAPE

Police in the entire central part of the state are on the lookout for Joseph Hildebrand, alias Pitch, Sill, well and Lindstrom, 42, alleged swindler, who escaped from custody in Valley City.

Hildebrand, it is said, worked the "sympathy game" effectively in Valley City and other places, many banks being included among his victims.

He would enter a town, remain short time, and then, claiming that he was a Mason of good standing, would present a watch containing photos which he claimed to be of his wife and baby. He would also display a Masonic ring.

Interesting certain persons in a story about his wife and baby, he would then ask for loan, saying he expected money any day. In some cases for a loan of $50 or $75 he would leave the watch.

Authorities say that he carried 14 monogram watches, 100 rings and other articles of jewelry and that in every watch was a photo of a woman and child, fictitiously represented by him as his wife and baby.

Having fraudulently secured $75 on a watch at Fingal, N. D., and $50 at Valley City, Hildebrand begged the services of Dr. Zimmerman of Valley City to make an auto trip to Arr. N. D., claiming his mother was dying.

The doctor consented and at Arr. Hildebrand told the physician that he condition of his mother was critical that it was decided to take her to a hospital in Fargo.

WHEN'S A WIFE NOT A WIFE?

Here's Royal Puzzle to Worry About

When is a wife not a wife? That is the question, and all Greece is thinking it over. Here's the dope: King Alexander married Mme. Aspasia Manos, a French girl. In Greece there isn't any such thing as a morganatic marriage. So the king's wife isn't his wife, morganatically speaking. Soon the National Assembly is to decide if Greece will recognize her as the queen of Greece. It's a long bet that it won't, because she is not a daughter of the nation. Now then, if King Alexander's wife isn't his wife, as far as the country is concerned, and isn't his queen, what the whoop is she? And will Greece demand that King Alexander renounce his throne or his wife?

The physician was asked to continue the trip through to Fargo. They reached a hospital at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and Hildebrand lay down inside while the physician talked to one of the nurses.

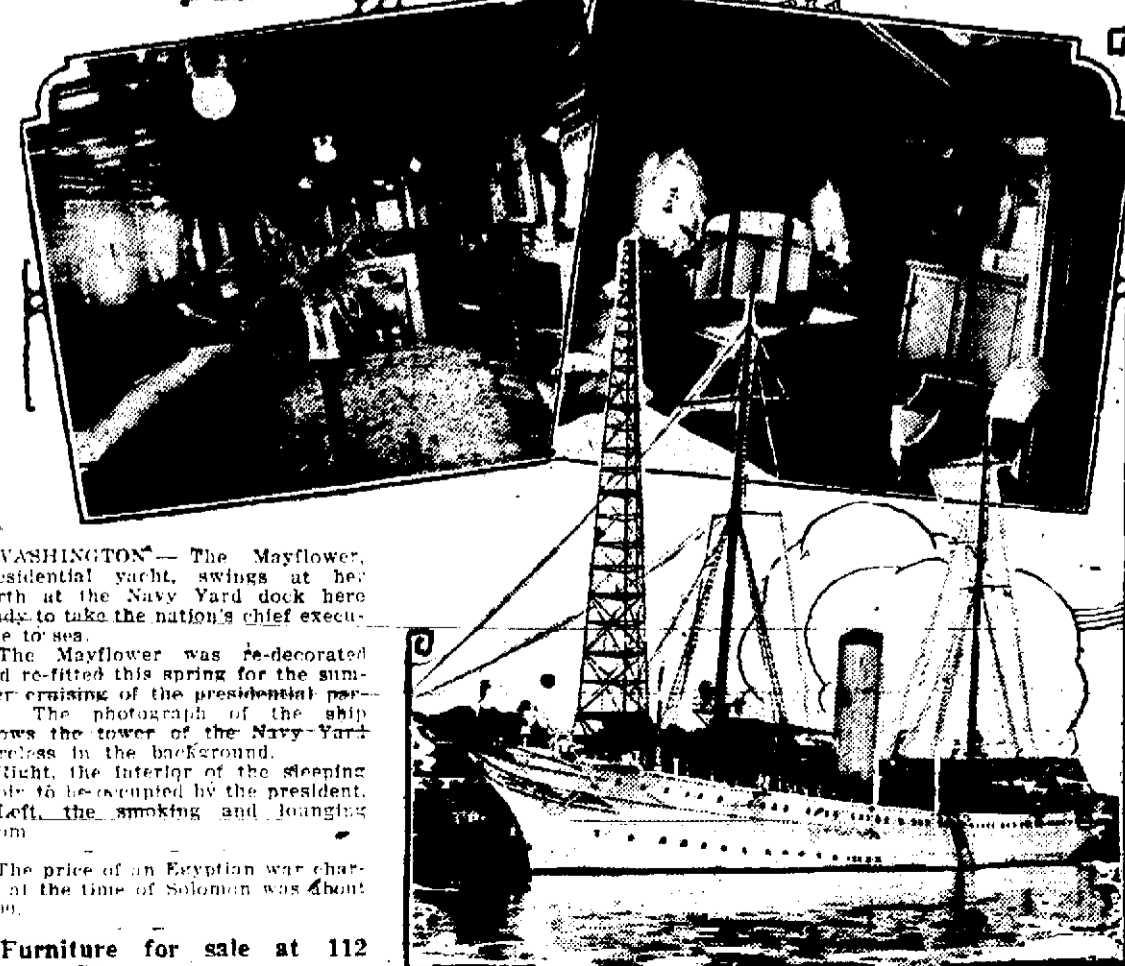

Failure of Hildebrand to return to his car or to take the physician to the patient resulted in a search being made. Hospital attendants said that a man answering the description of Hildebrand had entered the hospital and seemed bewildered and frightened, apparently by a rear door.

PHONE COMPANY VALUATION LOWER

The state board of equalization has lowered the total assessment on telephone companies in the state, according to figures made public today. The sum assessed in 1919 was $2,787, in 1920, $2,540,260. According to George E. Wallace, state tax commissioner, there was a decrease particularly on farm lines which use iron wire and on common batteries. The board accepted a new scale for assessing phone companies, listing such part of a telephone system.

BAR ADVOCATES COMMISSION TO HANDLE TRUSTS

Would Have Trade and Commerce Questions Come Before Trade Commission

ASK NEW ALIEN LAW

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 26.—Broadening the power and improvement of the practice of the Federal Trade Commission in order to bring about a "more satisfactory administration of justice" by it was recommended in the report of the committee of commerce, trade and commercial law, presented at the convention of the American Bar Association here today.

Enactment of federal legislation guaranteeing more adequate protection to citizens in their treaty rights was recommended by the committee in jurisprudence law reform.

Commission on Trusts. The committee on trade recommended that the commission be empowered to investigate all breaches of anti-trust laws, and that proceedings in reference to these laws should be transferred from courts to the commission with the right to appeal from the commission to federal courts.

The report also recommended that all cases falling within the anti-trust laws should be primarily instituted before the commission.

"The Federal Trade Commission," it continued, "having jurisdiction for the purpose of investigation, but to enter an order in conformity with its findings subject to right of appeal."

Advocate Changes. To carry out this suggestion, the committee advocated to the Federal Trade Commission Law, the "Taylor act," and "all federal anti-trust laws."

The report also urged that the commission render written opinions on at least every new case coming before it to establish a system of law and precedent that will enable the business of the country to know what the law is on a given point.

Stressing the importance of codifying the law of sales in interstate and foreign commerce and the law of common carriers in interstate and foreign commerce, the report stated the committee favored the drafting of this proposed to provide the necessary legislation.

Ask Legislation. The committee of jurisprudence, says in its report that it is asking for changes by the pending congress because of "various complaints that have been made to the United States by other nations that the rights of the citizens of those nations, under existing treaties, were not sufficiently protected by laws of this country."

The proposed legislation provides that the "President be authorized to direct the Attorney General, in the name and behalf of the United States, to file a bill in equity in the proper district court of the United States against any person or persons threatening to violate the rights of a citizen or subject of a foreign country, secured to such citizen or subject by treaty between the United States and such foreign country; and that this provision shall apply to acts threatened by state officers under the alleged justification of a law of the legislature of the state in which such acts are to be committed."

GEYSERS ARE AT BEST THIS YEAR

Activity of Old Faithful and the Rest New Wonder of Yellowstone National Park.

TERRACES GORGEOUS IN COLOR

Great Depth of Snow Last Winter Believed Responsible for Unusual Brilliance of Natural Phenomena—Deer Often Seen.

Yellowstone National Park, Wyo.—Interesting changes have developed this year in the natural wonders of Yellowstone National park. Led by Old Faithful geyser, which has shortened the intervals of its performance by almost a quarter of an hour, and is now playing every 64 minutes, the geysers and hot springs are on their best behavior, promising a season of unsurpassed beauty, as if mindful that the number of visitors is expected to exceed 100,000 for the first time in the history of the park.

Unusual depth of snow during the winter, followed by a rainy spring, is believed to be responsible for the brilliance of the natural phenomena. Abundant moisture has been stored in the underground passages feeding the geysers and springs to enable them to excel their previous exhibitions.

The Grand has become the park's most powerful geyser. It is playing once or twice each day, and for ten to thirty minutes affords a magnificent spectacle of a fountain of steaming water 200 feet in height, which is succeeded by five to twelve distinct eruptions. Giant and Glimpses have been giving great exhibitions.

Constant has discontinued operations. Its activity apparently transferred to the Whirligig, directly across the foot-path.

Terraces Gorgeous in Color. Mud Boiler has changed its tactics and is discharging water that is almost clear. Scores of small geysers are constantly in action and of course Old Faithful, which attains a height of 125 to 170 feet, is observed hourly by persons from all parts of the world, as in previous years.

At Mammoth Hot Springs, the headquarters of the park administration, the terraces are a marvel of gorgeous coloring, where the hot water ripples over the unique formations. With the single exception of Minerva Terrace, which is less splendid than in past years, all of the terraces are performing with great volume. Cleopatra apparently is trying to make up for Minerva's deficiency by starting a new channel where the coloring changes daily.

Jupiter, for many years the finest of all the terraces, has lost its leadership, being surpassed by the prosaically named Pulpit Terrace, which is sending more water than ever from its sapphire pool over a series of beautifully curved basins, fretted and colored like some old Gothic carving, until more than 200 feet below a conduit is reached, which takes the warm waters from all the springs into the open-air bathing pool.

Deer Appear Occasionally. Hyman Terrace is attracting great attention because of the abundance and exquisite shape of the algae, or microscopic plants, which give the terraces their color. Nowhere else in the park are to be found such graceful formations, floating in the water like ostrich plumes of delicate green.

Angel Terrace has developed a rich pink coloring, much like a birthday cake, a resemblance enhanced by the trees, which the growing terrace reached out and killed, and which now stick out through the crust like white candles. Occasionally a deer can be seen and photographed, nibbling the salty encrustations from the trees.

Orange Spring Terrace, which has grown to a great mound 15 feet high, has a tiny assistant, an "off-spring," to quote the pun of a visitor, which bubbles merrily at the original level of the parent spring, affording a comprehensive view of how the terraces have been built.

Mineral springs in the park, including the apollinaris and iron springs, which are eagerly sought by visitors desiring to drink the waters, are producing great quantities.

According to a Paris physician premature baldness is due to some trouble with the teeth.

Guajardo, Slayer of Zapata, Caught and Executed by De la Huerta Government

Monterey, Mexico, Aug. 26.—General Jesus Guajardo, who treacherously tricked and slew the rebel leader, Emiliano Zapata, himself fell a victim of deception when he was captured by government troops and executed here July 18 last. The tale of his latest and last adventure is thus told here.

Thirteen months ago Guajardo, a colonel in Carranza's army, attacked a detachment of his own faction's troops killed and wounded several of them and continued Zapata that he had a new adherent. Then, as Zapata greeted him in salute, he had ordered his men to fire on Zapata and the noted rebel chief was blown out of his saddle dead.

Turned Again.

To reward this act Carranza made the double dealer a general and a little over a year later he turned upon his benefactor and joined the successful revolution of Obregon and de la Huerta.

After many misadventures they accepted him as a general in the new army and gave him the command of a brigade and he started for Torreon on a campaign against Villa. While en route he stopped his train, assembled his regimental commanders and explained that he had resolved "not to recognize" the de la Huerta regime any longer but to go into the field for the newest revolution and join Obregon, Ricardo Gonzalez and the others fighting to the eastward around Monterrey. But several colonels, his chief of staff and half his command deserted him.

Finally, Guajardo abandoned the train and started to march for the mountains of Nuevo Leon. Soon he learned that Amaro, leaving the chase of Villa for the time was on his truck and that the risings around Monterrey had been failures. The remnants of his command melted away under the attacks of government troops until there remained only one faithful colonel and an orderly.

Dressed in civilian clothes, General Guajardo hid in the home of a relative in Monterey.

Relative of Both.

Meanwhile, Colonel Antonio Cano, one of Guajardo's colonels who had abandoned him, had been captured by federal troops taken to Monterey and released there. Next day Colonel Cano called at the house where Guajardo was hiding to visit the owner who also was his relative. To his surprise he found there his late commander General Guajardo who asked him not to reveal his whereabouts. Cano, however, revealed Guajardo's hiding place in order for his arrest was issued and with several other colonels Cano was sent to execute it.

Cano was admitted to see Guajardo and proceeded to unfold to him plans for the future. While they were talking the federal colonels entered and arrested Guajardo. He was taken a prisoner to the state penitentiary.

Is Shot.

Orders came from Mexico City directing that he should be tried by court-martial which was done that night, July 17. With practically no defense to offer, he was found guilty, the sentence was approved by General of Division Eugenio Martinez at Monterrey and early in the morning General Jesus Guajardo stepped out of his quarters in the old barracks at the Plaza de Armas, where he had been tried and said farewell to a few faithful friends.

Then he stepped in front of the firing squad and paid with his life the final penalty of his treachery to the new government.

INTERNATIONAL'S NEW MOTOR TRUCK UNITS GOING UP

It was announced recently that the International Harvester company is to erect at Port Wayne, Indiana, the largest motor truck plant in the world to increase its truck manufacturing schedule. It is now known, also, that other of this company's plans, which have long been under advisement for enlarging International motor truck manufacture have now come to a decision. The company will add a new truck to its lines, known as the Model S Speed Truck and the big Works at Springfield, Ohio, will be turned over to the exclusive production of this new model. Although business in International Motor trucks has increased 1500 per cent since the year 1914, a sensational growth in itself, it is estimated that the development of this new model will double the company's production as soon as capacity can be reached.

The Model S International will be a 1500 pound capacity truck, 115 inch wheel base equipped with 34x5 pneumatic truck tires and electric lights and started. The list price of the chassis will be $1,500 f. o. b. the factory. The model will be assembled from the approved standard units and will have an average speed of from twenty-five to thirty miles an hour. The first sample models are still being sketched ruthlessly by International engineers under the severest carrying and road tests which can be devised for developing strength and discarding weakness.

Covers Large Tract

Springfield Works is a large plant covering seventy acres of ground surrounded by green fields and wooded lands in the suburbs of Springfield, Ohio. Experts have declared that the factory could not have been constructed much more suitably for motor truck production had it been built with that end in mind. It consists of long, roomy buildings, some of them four stories high, favorably arranged for modern, progressive assembly.

Now the filmiest of summer materials are practical

You can wash them with perfect safety

THE shirtest batistes and raincoats, the finest handkerchiefs, collared shirts, and organdies—they can give as good service today as gingham!

It is all a question of how you wash them. Naturally, when you rubbed soap into them, and scrubbed it out again, those delicate fabrics never used to last! The fine things could not stand it. But there is no rubbing with Lux—just the soothing through rich foamy Lux suds, the gentle cleaning that gossamer fabrics demand.

With Lux your blouses and gowns may be ever so filmy—yet softly cleansed and protected.

Your grocer, druggist or department store has Lux—Lever Brothers Co., Cambridge, Mass.

How to launder sheer fabrics

Whisk one tablespoonful of Lux to a gallon of water. Let white things soak a few minutes; press suds through—do not rub. Rinse in three hot waters, dry in sun.

For colors make suds lukewarm. Wash quickly, rinse in three lukewarm waters, dry in shade.

Nothing so delicate as Lux for dainty summer frocks

SEWING LAST STAR TO SUFFRAGE BANNER

WASHINGTON—There was no great ceremony when the members of the National Woman's Party completed their ratification banner by sewing on the 36th star—but it was a happy day. Miss Alice Paul is shown above sewing on the last star, while other suffragists, all smiles, look on. On the right, the finished banner is unfurled from the balcony by Miss Paul.

Platinum is worth four times its weight in gold.

During 1919 the United States supplied 45 per cent of Italy's imports, as against 11 per cent the year before the war.

KEENAN LEAVES COUNTY OFFICE FOR PORTLAND

Held Position as Register of Deeds Over Period of 7 Years

WILL MAKE HOME THERE

G. J. Keenan, register of deeds for Burleigh county over a period of 7 years, left Wednesday night for Portland, Oregon, where he will make his home in the future.

Mr. Keenan has filed his resignation with the county auditor, for consideration by the Burleigh county commissioners at the next meeting, Sept. 2. It is probable that the county commissioners at that time will appoint the deputy register of deeds, Mrs. L. Van Hook, to carry on the work of the office until the November election, it was said today.

Two Running for Place
Richard Penwarden, at present county treasurer, and Leo Morris, were both nominated at the June primaries and will be contenders for the register of deeds position at the fall election.

Mr. Keenan has served the county as register of deeds for 7 years. At no time was his re-election seriously threatened. During his term of service the work and duties of the office have increased and multiplied.

The number of records filed and the clerical work necessary to maintain the county records have increased, but Mr. Keenan was always able to keep the office force ahead of the expansion, his friends declared today.

Family in Portland
Mrs. Keenan and the children have been in Portland since March. Mr. Keenan went west with them and returned a few weeks ago to wind up his personal and business affairs here.

Mr. Keenan does not know for certain what he will do in Portland. He has been offered a position with a bank in Portland, and was also given an opportunity of taking a place with a commission house there. Just which of these he will accept, if either, he did not know when he left Bismarck.

JUST WHAT IS THERE IN STAGE KISSES? NEW KIND OF STAR TELLS JUST WHERE THE FAMOUS STARS DIFFER

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Sh—David Powell doesn't want it known. Just the same, it's pretty well established around the Paramount movie studio that he is quite "set up," as one might say, over the fact he began kissing Mary Pickford quite some time before Doug got the idea—or the privilege.

David Powell gloats over his record, y'know. It's impossible to get him to admit it, but it's true, just as true as the fact that he's the leading man to all the most kissable feminine stars known in the act of being kissed on the silver sheet.

"But don't tell Doug," he says. "I can't run, swim or climb anywhere near so well as he can, and in the event of a chase I might be rather well—you can easily understand how I feel about it."

But there have been others. Miss Doug doesn't shine alone. There's Mae Murray, too.

April Weather
"Campaign and strawberry shortcake! April weather—what it might feel like to kiss the princess of your boyhood dreams, if she existed."

So says David Powell. And he should know. He's great on impressions—and kissing. In fact, he's supposed to be the most artistic kisser on the screen.

"To kiss Elsie Ferguson," he continues, "that is like listening to poetry with a harp accompaniment—ghosts of forgotten dreams sweeping over the soul like dead leaves in November moonlight."

"They're all different," Powell acknowledges. "A woman's kiss is not just a woman's kiss. Each one is as individual as the woman."

"Now Irene Castle—she is not at all like the others. To kiss her is to think of orchids and cut glass chandeliers—a marriage for convenience, still in the convent stages—a child's night at Palm Beach with the Coconut Grove band playing 'If You Could Care'."

Jam and Gingerale
"Right about face from that impression is the kiss of sweet little Marguerite Courtot, the best pal a seasoned old crook like Arsene Lupin ever had. Why, she makes you think of crushed velvet roses in a sunlit garden—or perhaps jam and ginger ale in a cozy corner near the fireplace on a rainy Sunday afternoon—maybe innocence reading Jim Jam Jones—the first girl you ever kissed begging you to hurry before Father comes crashing in!"

David Powell wonders if Billie Burke's kiss has changed since—well, since other days and films.

"It always made me think of a flapper on her way home from her first trip to the Midway. Frolic in Mamma's limousine, with the shades pulled down—or perchance Vanity Fair and surreptitious glances between swims at Narragansett the kind of kiss you sneak on the veranda of the country club just at dusk!"

Henry Hardy, of Burnstad, Norm.

David Powell is supposed to be the most artistic kisser on the screen—ask Marguerite Courtot, or Billie Burke, or Elsie Ferguson.

JOHNSON O. K.'S WOMAN SUFFRAGE

A message from Svenbjorn Johnson, Democratic state chairman, to local suffragists has been received by Mrs. E. P. Quinn as follows: "When the Tennessee legislature convened on the ninth the independent Ticket, headed by J. P. O'Connor, sent a telegram to the Speaker of the House, the President of the Senate, and the Governor, urging prompt ratification of the federal amendment. It seems now a sure that the women of the country will vote everywhere in November."

"THE ACQUITTAL," FAMOUS PLAY, IS COMING TO CITY

On Tuesday evening, August 31st, at the Auditorium Geo. M. Cohan's Production of the great mystery drama "The Acquittal" will be presented for one performance. The cast is an excellent one and was especially selected by Mr. Cohan. It may be of interest to the patrons of The Auditorium to be advised that the cast is headed by Harold Vermilye, the clever comedian seen here last season in the Cohan and Harris success "The Tailor Made Man." Those theatre goers of Bismarck who witnessed that delightful comedy and enjoyed Mr. Vermilye's excellent performance should not miss the opportunity of seeing Mr. Vermilye in an entirely different line of work. In "The Acquittal" his role is of the more serious nature and gives his talents full scope. As Joe Conway in Rita Weiman's three act drama "The Acquittal" Mr. Vermilye gives a delightful performance of a new sort of reporter who is not the fast type seen in plays of the theatre. He is not the highly paid, fastidious reporter, but a serious minded young man who is determined to get to the bottom of a crime. Although the play is of a serious nature Mr. Vermilye treats it in a pleasant manner.

The Acquittal is probably the best stage play in the history of the theatre. It is a play of the highest quality and is a play of the highest quality.

TOLD BY THE EYE

"Index of the Soul" Reveals True Character.

To the Initiated, the Human Eye Denotes the Workings of the Conscious and Subconscious Mind, as Nothing Else Can.

The eye has been called "the index of the soul," and with much truth. Yet how often is it consulted, and how many of us have sufficient knowledge to enable us to read it aright? In these days of unsolved crime mysteries, ability to read the character more or less accurately from the eyes is a possession worth having, as sets London Answers. And this knowledge is not mere guesswork; it is based on scientific facts and comparisons.

Science has brought out facts showing that human eyes, like those of animals, denote the working of the conscience and subconscious mind. Perpetrators of recent murders, if placed side by side, would provide useful information to the psychologist and Scotland Yard.

Eyes cannot be influenced in color by the mind. Dark, flashing eyes cannot be made blue, any more than the alcoholic can show eyes like the abstainer. A patient consulting his doctor may not think his illness can be diagnosed by his eyes, yet it is useless for him to say he sleeps soundly when his eyes show the contrary.

Looking at the eyes of people you know, the following characteristics will be found almost invariably: In man, round blue eyes denote a good temper, easy going, free with strangers and friends. If the eyebrows do not meet in the middle, he is free from criminal instinct, but subject to minor crime through his feelings for others.

If blue be tinged with gray, perseverance and strength of moral character must be added. He keeps his word, but does not forget an injury. This type of eye suggests sleepiness, but in reality, denotes a fertile brain and retentive memory, a strong constitution, capable of hardship, yet retaining an active mind.

Lucky are women with blue eyes. They are sweet tempered. If married, they will prove amiability itself, and fond of children, their sphere is in the house, or the finer work of the drawing-room.

Gray eyes are ascribed to officers of rank, politicians, and judges. Gray eyes are stern and commanding, showing a forceful and dominant will, with great powers of persuasion.

If the eyes be full and prominent, with a glassy appearance, the opposite is found; this type is not reliable, cannot stand a strain, is never forceful, perhaps a good workman, but useless as a master. The owner of such an eye is usually an egotist, not liking people who hold different views. Without being inclined to crime, he lacks determination.

A little study soon defines the criminal eye, which will not look anybody straight in the face, flickering with what is known as a furtive glance; when doing this, he calculates his chances of success.

In ladies, gray eyes are not an asset. For beauty or love, blue, black or hazel have the preference. Old maids and man haters usually possess gray eyes, which, however, often denote fixity of purpose and nobleness of character. Women criminals have the deepest eye showing they can premeditate a crime and having a strong mind can keep a secret.

Dark eyed people are considered handsome and attractive. In the man, it amounts to magnetism, the hypnotist being in this class. Such eyes denote a determination to go through at all cost; their owners love with a mad passion. The woman in this class is jealous before marriage; after, she will ruin anybody who tries to come between them. She delights in children and dress. Dark eyes are not stronger than other colors, as is commonly supposed.

The next study requires care to judge, or mistakes will result. This is the small, black, beady eye, set deep in the head, never seeming to be properly open. This type of man or woman blinks and turns away when looked at, as if to conceal what they fear can be read from their eyes.

This is the criminal eye, and denotes cunning, greed, vice and deceit; no feeling for others. This is the person to avoid at all times, for though he may not have any intention of evil, he lacks only the opportunity. The true hazel eye is seldom seen. This denotes, in both sexes, imagination, fickleness in love, fondness of pleasure, and no desire to rise in the world. Owners of hazel eyes have no criminal instincts, their tongue being their most dangerous weapon.

Artificial Eyes in Demand.
One of the odd trades of Birmingham is that of artificial eye-making, says the London Daily Mail. It has never been more thriving than now. Some makers have three months' work ahead. The war added to the demand and there are thousands of ex-service men who can not possibly be supplied for a considerable time. The variety of artificial eyes is surprising. They differ in the size of the iris-shape and the color of the "white." No two eyes are alike, and the artificial eye has to match the remaining one a matter of nice judgment. Formerly the Germans competed in the trade, but their "eyes" had many faults.

Women Apply for Work on Farms.
The state city employment bureau at the city hall in Cincinnati, Ohio, has received applications from more than a dozen women who desire to work as farm laborers.

BROCADE FOR DISTINCTIVE EVENING GOWN

BY CORA MOORE.
New York's Fashion Authority
New York, Aug. 25.—Gold and silver cloths, rich brocades and much scintillating trimming are decreed by fashion again.

Here is a suggestion—a model designed by Mood, who is both conservative and exclusive. The material is white tulle, brocaded with green gold. First, there is a foundation of white silk cut with a bandeau top. Over this is draped the brocade in princess style, cut diagonally from one shoulder to the hip where it is wired to stand out and disclose a facing of green chiffon.

A panel of the brocade is swung from the waist underneath a jeweled ornament, which at the end is wired again and the ends tasseled. Styles in half-dressing for evening afford much liberty. With this type of gown a high collar is most suitable. The elongated side effect is suggested for simple gowns.

SISTER DIES AT HOSPITAL HERE

Sister Ignita, of St. Alexius hospital died Wednesday afternoon, after many years of faithful service. She was 70 years old, coming here 15 years ago from the home at St. Joseph, Minnesota. During this time she has been connected with the Sisters' hospital in Bismarck.

The body was shipped this afternoon to St. Joseph, Minn., for burial.

Community Still.
The latest in prohibition style book—the community "still." It is operated near Dawson Springs, Ky., and all the neighbors use it jointly, taking turns about. So prohibition officers were told by Joe Winters of Caldwell county, arraigned for making moonshine whiskey following his arrest near Dawson. He said the still with which he had made a barrel of mash was a neighborhood instrument and that he did not know who was using it now. He said he hid it in the top of a fallen tree. It was gone when officers went to look for it.

SAFE FARMING
An Efficient Marketing System Will Reduce Waste

By P. G. HOLDEN.
WHEN we learn to market profitably—when we live in the country and we live in town learn to work together to establish a practical marketing system—the problem of greater production will, to a large degree, take care of itself. If we haven't a practical marketing system, it is nobody's fault but our own. We can have one if we want it.

We must not expect to work out and perfect a satisfactory marketing system in a week, or a month, or a year. It may take several years, but it will be well worth the time and effort expended. No matter how hard we try to work out this problem, it can never be worked out without cooperation between farm folks and town folks.

All Must Work Together.
Those of us who live in the country cannot "put it over" alone; neither can those of us who live in town. We must all work together. Standardization, grading, growing the same variety, using a trade name—these things have made products of certain communities famous all over America. They have opened a nation-wide market for those products.

When we learn to standardize—learn how to select the grade most in demand, we will not only broaden our market but will create a better market at home.

When all the farmers of a community grow one standard breed of cattle or hogs, one popular variety of apples or potatoes—some one kind of product for which there is always a market, that community becomes noted for that one thing, and its products are in demand.

Uniformity Attracts Buyers.
We must remember that uniformity of grade attracts the big buyers. When we standardize our products, merchants can afford to operate on a smaller margin.

We must have a training school of standardization and marketing. We must study the methods employed in successful communities.

We must have good roads so that we can get our products to market during any season and in all kinds of weather. Lack of an efficient marketing system means waste. Waste, waste, waste—that is wasted would feed us.

BOOSTING CENSUS
Ten years ago Morristown, N. J., had a population of 12,507.
Morristown hasn't expanded much, but citizens kept right on giving their town credit for 12,507.
But the other day the census man, down in Washington, made public Morristown's 1920 census figures—12,505.
"Two shy," Morristowners exclaimed. "How comes it?"
"Census figures are wrong," asserted the county prosecutor. "I've got the correct total."
"How is it you know more about this matter than the census bureau?" inquired the disappointed Morristowners.
"Girl baby this morning at my house," he explained; "a boy baby at my sister's home. Two plus what the census man added up equals what we had ten years ago."
And thus doth Morristown amble along for another decade secure in the knowledge that there are 12,507 of 'em.

CAMPAIGN CHARGES.
Governor Cox has adopted the La Follette style of campaigning. He has reverted to the muck-raking tactics that were popular a few years ago but decidedly discredited now because blanket accusations in absence of proof are merely advanced to produce prejudice in the minds of the gullible. If Mr. Cox has proof that the Republican National Committee is trying to raise a campaign fund of $15,000,000, he should produce it.
The Republican managers have announced that individual contributions will be limited to $1,000. On the other hand Taggart, Charles T. Murphy and his Tammany cohorts have stated that the sky is the limit on political contributions. It is known that they are combing every Democratic center for money and that every federal office holder feels that he is expected to come to the aid of the party in a most material manner.
It is the general impression that Mr. Cox has pitched the campaign on a very low level. Portions of his acceptance speech were devoted to cheap political tirade. He is following the key sounded then in his recent addresses.
Bald assertions without the facts are not going to impress anyone and they will go a long way toward breaking down any confidence the American voters may have in the Democratic presidential candidate.

THEY GO TO SCHOOL
Next month 24,000,000 children are going to return to school. Some to the country school; some to more elaborate buildings of the cities.
Some of them will see "teacher" for the first time. Ruddy-faced, shined up for fair, pig-tails hanging down their backs and "highwater marks" temporarily eliminated, these little boys and girls, many of them, are to make their bows as pupils.
What are they going to find? Reducing the 700,000 teachers to a composite picture, "she," for 80 per cent of the teachers are women, will be found to be an underpaid person, trying her best to keep body and soul together as she teaches the young idea how to shoot, and almost afraid to ask the school board for the raise it ought to be glad to give her without asking.
J. W. Crabtree, secretary of the National Education Association, says that last year 18,000 positions of teachers remained vacant. He expects a much higher percentage this year. He says that last year 42,000 teachers' positions were filled by teachers who did not hold even the lowest grade of certificates so as to keep the schools going at all. The reason—only one—poor pay.
Better pay up. A little more pay for the teacher in this country will be a mighty good investment, taxpayers are beginning to believe.

BREAD
The world need not go hungry this winter. The world has plenty of wheat to feed itself. All that is needed is sufficient intelligence to get the wheat to the places where it is needed in order that men may have bread enough and to spare.
The International Institute of Agriculture at Rome reports from figures it has gathered that there were on April 1, 1920, a total of 10,500,000 metric tons of wheat and rye available for shipment from the grain exporting countries of the world (6,000,000 tons in North America, 3,200,000 tons in South America, and 1,300,000 in Australia). This, be it noted, takes no account of Russian wheat, which is not considered available.

The countries that have to import wheat and rye to feed their people, will require between April 1 and the periods of their respective harvests 8,100,000 metric tons.
Consequently, it is apparent that the stocks at the beginning of April were sufficient not only to supply all requirements up to harvest time, in the northern hemisphere, but also to leave a surplus available in the coming season. On the basis of the figures presented, this surplus was 2,400,000 metric tons on August 1.
Earth and rain and sun have done their duty. It is up to mankind to make sure the results.

BE UNAFAID, BUT SLOW ON PROMISES
By Calvin Coolidge
Republican Nominee for Vice President, in a Speech at Boston to the Republican Club of Massachusetts

We must look to the past for guidance, but to ourselves for success. To despise the past is to destroy the future. It is not in a desire for constant change, but satisfaction in the contemplation of established truth, as well as unyielding effort for improvement, that character in men and parties is revealed.
It is desirable to restore our government to a more even balance. Representative government ceases to represent when its decisions reflect any opinion but its own, or result from any influence, high or low, under whatever guise or name, whether of property or men, save a desire to promote the public welfare.

There is need of a strong Executive, but there is need of a correspondingly strong Congress. And the greatest need of all is that each should co-operate with the other, functioning according to the Constitution. The first thought of the founders was to put their own house in order. It is well to remember that. We are Americans. Whatever we accomplish must be as Americans.

A gigantic task lies before us. I have confidence that it will be performed because I have seen the leaders of our party disregard personal preferences for the public good by making mutual concessions to honest opinions, patriotically held, to secure agreement to a sound platform and the choice of a wise leader.

I believe in Warren G. Harding. He is too much engaged in doing good to his fellow countrymen to find time to abuse any of them, too intent on solving his country's problems to pay any attention to the abuse of others. Public information is bound to increase for him public approval. Honoring and respecting his fellow countrymen, he is bound to grow in their honor and respect. A sound man, tried in the fire of public service, unwarped and unafraid.

Our country must reconstruct itself. The prodigal wastefulness, in private life and public administration, must either cease or there will be danger of a severe economic reaction. We must have less of government interference in business and more reliance of the people in themselves. Our great war debts must be met, but by a system of taxation that rests evenly on the broad shoulders of the great public.

The times are troubled, people are in a ferment. Unrest prevails at home, discord is too prevalent abroad. No man and no party ought to be rash enough to promise the performance of plans for long in advance. It is a time when all must feel their way from day to day. But there is no excuse for failure to do our best.

There will be doubt, there will be hesitation, there may be local disorders, but the heart of America is sound. Her people as a whole understand and believe in her institutions with a faith and a loyalty never surpassed by the people of any other country.

The decisions in this election will turn, not on an attitude toward world politics, but on the attitude toward the home. The wives and mothers of the land, directly or indirectly, are going to exert a mighty influence on the result of this campaign. They believe in patriotism and common sense. Ultimately they will make their choice, and they will make it according to the Republican standard, not in response to the inquiry, "Will it pay?" but in response to that other inquiry, which searches the soul of the universe, "Is it right?"

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26.—The British are evidently still taking an active hand in our domestic affairs. Charges have just been made that many arrests recently made in the vicinity of Bethlehem and Philadelphia of Hindus were made at the instigation of the British authorities. The charges are even more grave and specific since they involve our immigration officials.
Affidavits have been filed with the Labor Department accusing Sir Ellis Island officials, Byron H. Uhl and Augustus P. Shell of aiding in a conspiracy for smuggling East Indian sailors for British vessels short of crews.
A lot of Hindus recently arrested without warrant were, according to the affidavits, taken to Ellis Island where they were refused access to counsel and pressure was brought to bear on them to sign up "voluntarily" for the British steamer "Lucerna" bound for India and short of sailors. Eighty to one hundred East Indians were included in the dragnet round-up and the story goes that British agents and representatives of British steamship interests directed the arrests. Private detectives of the Lehigh railroad were also used. Inspector Rhoades at Ellis Island supported the charge that the arrests were made not for immigration purposes, but in order to force the East Indians to take service on British ships.
Walter Nellies of New York has been acting as counsel for the Hindus.

Q. How long is whooping cough contagious? Could it be a severe cold case whooping cough?
A. It is not possible to state definitely just how long whooping cough is contagious, though it is well known that the disease is most communicable in the earlier stages. Serum treatment has practically no influence on changing the period of communicability.
Whooping cough may begin with what seems to be a severe cold, but the disease is always contracted by communication from a previous case.

Eccentric Millionaire - Convict, Who Refused Pardon for Years, Finally Walks Through Gates Free
BY JACK CARBERRY, N. E. A. Staff Correspondent.
Huntville, Tex., Aug. 26.—"Uncle Billy" Edwards, who killed a man 10 years ago, is free. So are his two cellmates.
The eccentric millionaire-convict walked through the penitentiary gate here, a pardon in his pocket as his seventy-first birthday anniversary gift from Governor W. H. Hobby. The coroner's jury said the killing was justified, but Edwards insisted on being sentenced.
Six times before Edwards had refused pardon offers.
"Not until I have paid for my sin," he told Governors Colquitt, Ferguson and Hobby.
Pain Freed, Ton
Then a few weeks ago he agreed to accept a pardon.
"But I don't want to be free with my pals locked up," he wrote the governor. And so Hobby's staff granted pardon to J. J. Carbaugh, 80, and James Nunley, 68. Edwards' cellmates like Edwards, they had both killed men. Both were serving life terms. Residents of Callahan Co., Edwards' home, planned a "welcome celebration."
He stopped it.
"Celebrations are only for men who have accomplished noble deeds," he wrote.
"First thing I do is go to the capital and tell the governor how much my pals appreciate being pardoned," Edwards said as he boarded the early morning train for Austin.

Last Night's Dreams
—What They Mean
SHROUDS.
A PERSON unfamiliar with dreams fore might wake up after dreaming of a shroud with a feeling that he had seen an evil omen and be, consequently, depressed in spirits. He would be quite wrong. A shroud may not be altogether a pleasant thing to see in one's dreams, but it is accounted by nearly all the soothsayers to be a favorable omen to dream of that gruesome object. For one thing such a dream signifies that you are to inherit some money. It is true, though, say the wise ones, that seeing a shroud in a dream is a warning to the dreamer to take better care of his health or he will have a fit of illness which will interfere with his business. But it is merely a tendency to illness which is predicted and not illness itself. If you are careful of your health your business will prosper and your fortune increase.
If you dream that you see a shroud removed from a dead person you might wake up with a fright at the ghastly sight. But really there would be no evil omen in the dream which would call for any worrying. The worst that it could mean would be that you are going to have some little strife and contention with a person with whom you least expected to have trouble. But the difficulty will be of short duration; you will get the best of the argument and all will be smooth sailing again. In looking over many hundreds, or rather thousands, of dream interpretations which have been handed down from generation to generation it is found that the saying "Dreams go by contraries" does not apply so frequently as is generally supposed. But the dream of a shroud is one of the cases where it does. So cheer up. If you have this disagreeable dream, think of the coming legacy and the flourishing of your business.

WHEN NELLIE'S ON THE JOB.
The bright spots in my life are when the servant quits the place. Although that grim disturbance brings a town on Nellie's feet.
The week between the old girl's reign and entry of the new is one that's filled with happiness and comfort through and through. The charm of living's back again—a charm that servants rob— I like the home, I like the meals, when Nellie's on the job.
There's something in a servant's ways, however fine they be, That has a cold and distant touch and frets the soul of me. The old home never looks so well, as in that week or two That we are servantless and Nell has all the work to do. There is a sense of comfort then that makes my pulses throb And home is as it ought to be when Nellie's on the job.
Think not that I'd deny her help or grudge the servant's pay. When one departs we try to get another right away. I merely state the simple fact that no such joys I've known As in those few brief days at home when we've been left alone. There is a gentleness that seems to soothe this selfish elf And oh, I like to eat those meals that Nellie gets herself!
You cannot buy the gentle touch that mother gives the place, No servant girl can do the work with just the proper grace. And though you hired the queen of cooks to fashion your croquettes Her meals would not compare with those your loving comrade gets. So, though the maid has quit again and she is moved to so, The old home's at its finest now, for Nellie's on the job.

Red River Valley Tournament at Fargo Entries Are Promising

GOPIER STARS COMING

Fargo Aug. 26—Advance dope on the twelfth annual Red River Valley Tennis tournament, which opens in Fargo under the auspices of the Fargo Tennis club on Wednesday, Sept. 1, states Henry W. Norton won the championship of the University of Minnesota in the spring of 1919 and repeated in 1920. He was ineligible to compete in intercollegiate tennis in 1920 because of his law studies, but has figured prominently in Minnesota club matches this summer. In the spring of 1919, he and Henry Adams brother of John Adams of Minneapolis, reached the finals in the doubles event of the Western Conference tennis tournament held in Chicago.

Norton is playing this week in the Minnesota state tournament at Duluth, and is picked by the deposters as one of the two most promising contestants.

Other out of the state entrants expected include Paul Bennett of Winnipeg, who last week won the Dominion championship, W. U. Knight of Minneapolis, F. H. Gill, president of the Minneapolis Tennis club.

State Tennis Players

J. W. Wikerson, winner of the state title in the play in Minot last week, will be unable to enter the Red River Valley tournament. Mr. Wikerson before learning of the date of the Valley tourney, had made plans to auto to Yellowstone National park with his family.

Robert Muir of Hunter, Bay Lawrence of Fargo, winners of the Northern Great Plains doubles at Minot, will be entered in the Valley meet. Dr. W. E. Blatherwick of Van Hook, winner of the Northern Great Plains singles title, will be entered. Wilma Elton of Grand Forks, who with Wikerson won the state doubles event at Minot, will also be entered.

Tennis club officials look for entries from Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bemis of Minot who won the states mixed doubles championship. Mrs. Bemis is also the holder of the women's state singles championship for 1919 and 1920.

Woman's Events

Entries in the women's singles and doubles events are coming in very slowly, according to tennis club officials. Fargo tennis players are urged to enter that events may be a success.

Miss Charlotte Gill, a 12 year old racket wielder of Minneapolis has entered with her father in the mixed doubles and will be a contestant in the singles.

DEMPSEY WHALES SPARING PARTS IN THE OPEN AIR

Benton Harbor, Mich., Aug. 26.—While Jack Dempsey was reported to be in a hospital seriously injured today as a result of a reported automobile accident, the heavyweight champion actually was in his open air training camp whaling his sparring partners around in preparation for his bout here with Billy Mike a week from next Monday.

Dempsey took a 40-minute public workout this afternoon in addition to other training activities. After tugging at the weights and shadows boxing he went into the ring for three fast rounds with Panama Joe Gans, sending the shifty negro reeling to the ropes half a dozen times with left hooks. He finished the program with three savage rounds with Bill Tate. Jack Healy, manager of Mike, was somewhat upset today by criticism of the challenger's sparring partners. He declared they were every bit as good as the men training Dempsey.

Jack Heinen, Chicago heavyweight, who is one of the challenger's sparring partners, shares Heidy's views concerning the chances Mike will have. Heinen helped train Willard a year ago at Toledo for the Dempsey match and said today that Mike is a much snappier puncher than the former champion.

Keeps the House Warm in Winter—Cool in Summer—Saves 1-3 of Coal Bill

NOTHING much more comfortable and cozy than a nice warm house with a blizzard raging out-doors. But nothing more uncomfortable and provoking than stoking the furnace and still have the house stay cold.

It's the cold, windy weather that tests your house. It's then that you realize what poor protection the average walls and roof afford you. No more need be said. Your experience of last winter is still fresh in your mind.

If you are building this year protect yourself against a repetition of last winter's experience. Build Flaxlinum into the walls and roof of your house and be comfortable every day—regardless of weather.

Flaxlinum keeps the cold where it belongs—on the outside; and heat where it does you some good—on the inside. In summer it works the other way around, making a house 10 to 15 degrees cooler. Flaxlinum prevents the passage of heat and cold through walls and roof.

And to think it is a paying investment. Flaxlinum pays for itself in a few winters, and then goes right on making money for you. Flaxlinum users say it saves 30% to 40% of their coal bills.

Here is comfort and economy at one and the same time.

N. P. ROAD NOW HAS MOST ALL OF OWN CARS

17.5 Per Cent More of Its Own Cars on Tracks Now Than on July 1st

The Northern Pacific railroad now has 82 per cent of its own cars, as compared with 64 per cent on July 1, according to figures received by W. A. McDonald, their agent here.

In the past few months a large share of the company's cars have been off of its own tracks, and under pressure from the Interstate Commerce Commission these cars are now nearly all returned to the road which owns them.

It is interesting to note that from July 1 to August 15 the number of cars which the road owned shows a decrease of 94. In other words nearly two cars a day were burned, wrecked, or for some other reason put out of use.

On July 1 the road had 64 per cent of its own box cars. It now has 75 per cent. On the first of July the Northern Pacific had but 55 per cent of its own refrigerator cars. It now has 59 per cent.

The number of flat cars which are on the road now shows an increase of 4 per cent over the first of July. All kinds of cars show an increase of 2.5 per cent over the condition on July 1. The road now has 82 per cent of its own cars, as compared with 64 per cent on the first of July.

The increase in cars will aid in the moving of the fall grain harvest.
